

Other books by Tony Campolo not available through the online store include:

Chicken Soup for the Christian Soul 2

(2006, HCI)

The themes of forgiveness, faith, hope, charity and love in Chicken Soup for the Christian Soul 2 will lift your spirits and warm your hearts. Each story is a reminder of the daily miracles you can discover when you've welcomed Christ into your life.

As you read these powerful stories, you will deepen your compassion for others, be inspired to greater acts of charity and remember to forgive others and yourself. Most of all, you'll be reminded that you are never alone or without hope, for He is always walking by your side. Includes Tony Campolo's contributions "The Agnes Story."

Wake Up America! Answering God's Radical Call While Living in the Real World

(1991, Zondervan)

As Americans, we enjoy freedom and comfort that make us the envy of the world. We are a prosperous nation, a land of opportunity and plenty. But there is another America under this surface affluence—an America where poverty, hunger, and fear are daily realities. Tony Campolo has never been one to sidestep tough issues. In Wake Up America! He issues a prophetic call for committed Christians to wake up and minister to those who have been excluded from the American dream. Campolo echoes the call of Jesus Christ with convincing authority, a message that comes straight from the Word and from his own heart.

In Wake Up America! You will capture a new vision, a new purpose for your own life. For the many sincere, committed Christians who still feel an emptiness, a yearning that material well-being has been unable to satisfy, Campolo brings an old message that is still good news. Through these pages you will experience a closeness to Jesus Christ that you never thought possible.

You will meet lawyers whose practices are growing dramatically despite the fact that they set aside a part of their workday to perform free services for the poor. You will learn what college students are doing to combat illiteracy in the inner city. You will read about retired people who are answering the call to action and are seeing lives change through their involvement.

This is Tony Campolo's vibrant call to action for "middle range" Christians—believer who live in the "real world" of careers, family commitments, and credit card bills, yet feel the need to experience something of the radically transformed lifestyle that Jesus promises.

Campolo challenges all Christians to involve themselves in grass roots ministries that work for change in America. Here is the clear and inspired voice of a modern prophet bringing Christ's message to the crowded wilderness of or cities' streets. It is a voice which unequivocally asserts that a life of conviction and service is synonymous with a biblically based life of faith00a life driven by compassion, idealism, and justice.

50 Ways You Can Feed a Hungry World

By: Gordon Aeschliman & Tony Campolo (1991, InterVarsity Press)

Ready to DO Something? You already want to help hungry people. Your only question, “How?” This practical manual is just what you need. Here are 50 options to choose from. Ideas like:

- Spending Thursday evenings handing out sandwiches
- Writing letters to your member of Congress
- Joining an advocacy organization that helps get food to hunger areas
- Considering a career that directly impacts the world food situation

Some of the ideas in this book will take you 30 minutes; some will take 30 weeks. Some will cost a postage stamp; some will require an investment of thousands of dollars. Some are for an individual or family to do; some will take a whole church or community group.

Ready to do something? Here are 50 good places to start.

50 Ways You Can Help Save the Planet

By: Gordon Aeschliman & Tony Campolo (1992, InterVarsity Press)

Want to take care of the earth but don't know where to start?

This book offers 50 ideas to choose from: options you can do on your own, with a couple of friends, or with your church.

You'll find out how you can:

- Use water more creatively
- Get your neighbors to recycle with you
- Get around on less fuel
- Take some friends to a Third World village to build a pure water system
- Pursue a career which lets you directly affect the future of the planet.

Some of these ideas will take a few minutes a week; some will take a few weeks or years.

Choose the ones that fit you.

50 Ways You Can Reach the World

By: Gordon Aeschliman & Tony Campolo (1993, InterVarsity Press)

“But what can I do to make a difference?”

You can make a difference. This book gives fifty ideas to help you in your commitment to touch the world with the tenderness of Christ. Ideas on how to

- Take a vacation with a purpose
- “twin up” your church with one in another city or country
- Use your home as a mission station
- Adopt-A-People
- Throw a Global Festival

Here are fifty practical ways to get going and keep going.

The Church & The American Teenager

(1989, Zondervan)

What are young people like these days? How effectively is the church meeting their needs?

In The Church and the American Teenager, bestselling author and popular speaker Tony Campolo uses the findings of sociologists to explain why teenagers are the way they are and what can be done to help them become what Christians ought to be. Some of the issues he explores are:

- The cultural values that affect teenagers
- Two adolescent subcultures: the yuppies and the punk rockers
- The changing American family
- Setting standards for teenage sexuality
- Motivating apathetic students
- And much more

Tony Campolo challenges youth workers to be wise and well informed about youth culture. And he calls the church to a higher vision for youth: “If this generation of teenagers is lost to the church, it will not be because we demanded too much from them, but because we demanded too little.”